'TERROR TACTICS' CHARGED

Prof Martyred In 'Campus Crusade'

By DAVID LEWIS
Sentinel Staff Reporter

A California Western University assistant professor who was told to resign or be fired for allegedly agitating students and faculty has accused the school administration of using "terror tactics."

Dr. Robert K. MacDonald said he was told to resign Thursday or be fired Friday. MacDonald refused and was told to appear before the President's Personnel Committee Friday afternoon.

The personnel committee meeting was called off at midday Friday. A new meeting has not been scheduled to hear MacDonald's case.

"This is another case where the administration first tried terror tactics, then backed out," said MacDonald. "The Provost realized after consulting with his lawyer that it was not a very professional thing to fire someone with only 24 hours notice."

Students, after hearing of the university's ultimatum to MacDonald, planned to demonstrate in front of the university administration building while the hearing was in process. More than 100 students appeared about 3 p.m. while Provost R. Carroll Cannon watched from the administration building.

Two other university professors, Dr. Albert Lane and Robert E. Brock, were also called into the Provost's office Thursday and told to halt their activities with students or face the possibility of being fired. The administration also reportedly asked the professors to help quell student dissent on campus.

Students held a protest convocation on campus 10 days ago to backup requests for more student participation in university affairs. Leaders of that demonstration are now awaiting disciplinary action from a nine-member student-faculty - administration committee established by the Provost.

MacDonald said he has been charged with unprofessional conduct in four points of an indictment handed him by Provost Cannon. He and four other professors have acted as advisors to Students for New Politics, the group which organized last week's protest convocation.

Wednesday the campus chapter of the American Association of University Professors met to discuss recent developments on campus, including the cancellation of the contracts of eight first-year teachers. At least four of those who lost their contracts were involved in the student movement.

MacDonald said the American Association of University Professors and the American Federation of Teachers are investigating the incidents on campus. The AAUP could vote to censure the university and blacklist it for its faculty hiring and firing practices.

MacDonald said that on the advice of the AAUP he has asked for 30 days to prepare his case opposing his dismissal. He said he has not received a reply from the administration.

A university spokesman said late Friday that the personnel committee would probably meet late next week.

Thursday night the university Publications Board — meeting behind closed doors —drew up a bill of particulars explaining why it was recommending that student newspaper editor Narda Zacchino be removed from her post.

A group of about 10 students was turned away from the session by William E. Clarke, dean of students, who warned them to "disperse and not obstruct the legitimate business of the university."

Reasons for Miss Zacchino's dismissal were not released but revolve around her participation in the student protest on campus.

PASS IN REVIEW—Maj. Gen. Lowell E. English, commanding officer of the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, is the local chairman of 1968 Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7-13. ON EVE OF RETIREMENT

Vynne Cautions On Overdeveloping Bay

Don Vynne, superintendent of the Aquatics Division, cautioned against overdevelopment of Mission Bay Park on the eve of his retirement.

Vynne, who retires Feb. 15, said, "We feel that the policy of limiting commercial development to 25 per cent of available land should absolutely be retained."

The 64 - year - old aquatics head said that the development of Mission Bay was the most significant achievement during his administration. He emphasized that the facility belonged to the public and should be self-supporting.

Vynne pointed out the million dollar commercial operations and added it was in the best public interest to retain the greatest portion of the park for its own use.

When Vynne became the first superintendent in 1946, the lifeguards worked for the police department, the Navy controlled the city swimming pools, and Mission Bay was, in his words, "one grand swamp: nothing but cattails and duckblinds."

When the lifeguards came into Aquatics there were 24 permanent and 45 summer guards, and two vehicles, Vynne said.

The present force has 35 permanent and 110 summer guards, 19 vehicles and 10 watercraft.

"We were in temporary headquarters at Santa Clara Point for 16 years before moving here five years ago. Tourists still can't get used to this (Aquatics headquarters at Quivera Basin) being an administration building, each summer someone wants to rent a room here," he said.

Vynne stated that Mission Bay now looks much as it will in the future. He said that all dredging has been completed, and that development of the remaining area was taking place, except Fiesta Island.

Dredgings on the island are required to settle six more years before it can be developed.

He said $900,000 in improvements along Interstate 5 will take place before 1969. The project will include a public beach, landscaping and a parking area at DeAnza Cove.

Vynne said that San Diego is running out of beaches. He forecast 1 million people in 10 years, and said that more beaches should be developed.

"It's been a pressure job, pressure all the way. No matter what you do, someone opposes it.

"But it's been an interesting job. You never know what's going to happen when you walk in each morning," he said.

Vynne came to San Diego after serving as assistant director of field services for the Red Cross in Europe during WW II.

He is a 1931 graduate of DePaul University and served as beach and pool director for the city of Chicago.

Applications for Vynne's post are now being accepted by the city.

ALONG SCOTT STREET

Underground Lines Replace Power Poles

The first plastic duct for utility lines was laid this week in a trench on Shelter Island Dr. as part of a project to convert all power lines underground in the area near Shelter Island Scott St.

When completed the project, which is being financed and carried out by the San Diego Gas and Electric Co., will remove all telephone poles on Shelter Island Dr., east of Rosecrans, and portions of Scott, Shelter, Talbott and Canon streets and Anchorage Lane.

The intent of SDG&E is to beautify the gateway to Shelter Island in keeping with the utilities on the isthmus and the island which are already underground.

The only cost to property owners will be the expense of converting their own wiring to accept underground hookups.

Pac Tel's Share Too

It will affect nine residences, two apartment buildings, and 10 office and commercial buildings located in the area.

A small portion of the project is being financed by the Pacific Telephone Co.

In 1966, the Point Loma Village Beautiful organization was told by SDG&E that the tab for underground conversion from Canon St. to Talbott St. on Rosecrans would cost property owners $60,000.

"The cost was just too great," said Mrs. Gene Trepte, vice chairman.

Last November, the SDG&E announced it would undertake the Shelter Island-Portal underground project.

Following this announcement, the Shelter Island-Portal Underground District was created by City Council giving the company the go ahead.

Most Cooperative

"They really deserve a pat on the back. They took all the initiative and did it on their own, at their own expense . . . most cooperative," said Mrs. Trepte.

Dan Trumble, a public relations spokesman for the company, said it would be some months before the project was finished.

According to Trumble, conversion will not take place until the last customer hookup has been made.

"After this project is finished, we'd like to see it extended up Canon St. We'd like to replace telephone poles with trees along the scenic route by the 1969 anniversary," said Mrs. Trepte.

'Parlor Biz' Issue Comes Before Council

A new procedure that would allow the city zoning administrator to issue conditional use permits for fine arts instruction in homes will be before the City Council Tuesday.

Councilmen approved the conditional use permit concept in a conference session late last year after it was reported that approximately 600 music teachers were teaching illegally. Under city regulations it is illegal to conduct commercial activities in a residence.

City Planning Department officials said they have not enforced the regulation unless complaints about noise or other conditions were received from neighbors. After discussing the matter, councilmen decided that music and fine arts instruction should be permitted and asked for the amended ordinance.

The amended ordinance, if passed Tuesday, will require all fine arts teachers to apply for a conditional use permit through the city zoning administrator. The zoning administrator will issue permits on a case-by-case basis, requiring sound proofing or other requirements if they are found to be necessary.

Decisions of the zoning administrator regarding conditions imposed can be appealed to the city Board of Zoning Appeals and ultimately to the City Council. Chief architect of the new procedure was City Councilman Jack Walsh.

WORKING MAN'S MOTEL

Approval Given For Dana Inn Designs

The facilities committee of the city Park and Recreation Board this week unanimously approved designs for a proposed "working man's" motel in Mission Bay.

The approval, however, was made on the basis that two conditional requirements be met.

The motel, to be called Dana Inn, is a joint venture of the Fabulous Five - Seven Corp., and Dana Marina.

Rooms at Dana Inn would cost from $8 to $12. There would be 200 units and 138 boat slips according to the approved designs.

In the four years since the committee was founded, members have never had an opportunity to review or pass judgment on a new development in Mission Bay according to Douglas Letson, public relations representative for the Fabulous Five - Seven Corp. "Everything prior to this week's action," said Letson, "consisted of reviews of existing facilities for modification, additions or charges."

The facilities committee made an "in depth" survey of the designs for the project. The members unanimously approved the designs with two contingencies. The first was a requirement that the Fabulous Five - Seven Corp. submit the final color scheme to the committee for approval. The second was that the final landscaping plan be subject to the same requirement.

The facilities committee is a four man board made up of prominent architects from the area. The committee was started as an architectural review board for Mission Bay.

The next step towards the construction of the Dana Inn, according to Letson, will be to present the project directly to the Park and Recreation Board. "According to Gene De Falco, said Letson, "the construction should begin March 1." De Falco is a primary backer of the project.

Griffith and Company has been awarded the contract for construction, according to Letson. Planners are hoping to coordinate completion of the hotel with the city's completion of additional improvements in Dana Basin. The Dana Inn should open in early June.

Letson explained that a primary feature of the original inn designs was simplicity. The eight separate buildings were of uniform design, but each faced a different scenic area, enclosed courts or the water. City offficials asked that additional designs be made so as to fit the motel scheme into the general architectural "Tahitian" style dominant in Mission Bay.

The extra cost of the nonfunctional designing once threatened to lift the motel out of the "working man" class and place it on a higher rental cost level. The cost of supporting the newly designed roofs (in the Tahitian style) was considerably more than originally planned for the buildings.

The inn's facilities will include 24-hour service for boat slip and cafeteria users. Construction of the hotel is expected to range between $800,000 and $900,000.

Yachtsmen Learn Sea From Sailors

Most San Diegans are aware of the Naval Training Center's role in turning out polished recruits and service school graduates, but few realize the center furnishes a home for two Peninsula scouting organizations.

The units are Boy Scout Troop 555 and Explorer Post 555 of the Embarcadero Yachtsmen.

The Yachtsmen, first of their kind in the area, are youths whose main concern is to learn everything possible about boats. Unlike the Sea Scouts, the Yachtsmen do not own their boats or handling equipment. They acquire their skills aboard ship under the auspices of NTC personnel and the Navy's Anti-Submarine Warfare School.

The Optimist Club of San Diego is co - sponsor of the Yachtsmen.

NTC's part includes furnishing a building for meetings, donating office supplies, making training facilities available, and providing a liaison with other Naval and military activities.

NTC also provides an advisor for the Yachtsmen. He is Lt. (jg) Daniel Zuber, a 16-year veteran who was commissioned after serving 12 years as an enlisted man.

Eight Years

Zuber spent the last eight years at sea and is amply qualified to assist the Yachtsmen fulfill requests for aid to crew boats in the area for cruising, sailing, fishing or racing.

Troop 555 has two NTC members among its ranks. LCmdr A. P. Butler is scoutmaster, and Lt. (chaplain) E. W. Epps serves as the institutional representative.

Epps' primary function is to coordinate activities between NTC and the troop.

NTC also supplies the scouts with use of a swimming pool, athletic facilities and a building for family meetings.

Best Laid Plans Discussed Again

City Councilmen will continue their discussions on placing the city Planning Department under the city manager's office Tuesday at their regular council session.

Councilmen heard two hours of testimony on the proposal last Tuesday, then continued the matter to this week to pose questions they have on the change to city staff members. No action is planned until three weeks from Tuesday when the council has agreed to hear the matter for a third time, probably to make a decision.

Journalists Compete At Mesa College

High school journalism students competed in the San Diego County Journalism Education Association's annual write-off Thursday afternoon.

Ten man (and girl) teams from 35 San Diego high schools entered the contest. Area schools were examined at Mesa Junior College.

Richard Tarquinio, journalism instructor at Mesa College, acted as host for the area write-off. The write-off covered four areas—straight news, sports, features, and editorials. Each student was examined in his choice of any two categories.

Fact sheets were given to the young writers who were then required to edit and rewrite stories in acceptable newspaper style. Judging will be based on news worthiness, style completeness and reader interest.

There will be 10 winners in each division with team scores determined on a point system.

Trophies will be presented to winners in ceremonies at the University of California at San Diego Feb. 28. Area title holders will compete for the Southern California championship in Los Angeles in April.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Strange Ideas Emerge From Science Fairs

How much liquor does it take to make a spider drunk and what do Venus fly traps like for breakfast?

When questions like these are asked, everyone knows that the annual San Diego Science Fair has started.

This week's local events are on the junior high school level. Pacific Beach Junior High School's event will start Wednesday in the school auditorium. Muirlands Junior High School's fair starts Tuesday in the cafetorium.

The Pacific Beach event will last from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday and the La Jolla fair from 7 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

High school science fairs will be held next week in La Jolla and Pacific Beach. The dates are Feb. 20, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at La Jolla High School and Feb. 9, 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. at Mission Bay High School.

Each project exhibited in this year's science fair has received a certificate of participation for successful completion of a science fair project. In addition, each student's science teacher will evaluate the project and give a grade to be added to the class grade at the end of the fair.

Projects chosen by the district screening committee to participate in the Greater San Diego Science Fair on March 27-31 in Balboa Park, will be identified with a banner.

Teachers say there are six elements considered in the judging of a science fair project. These include creativeness, scientific approach, technical skill and workmanship, thoroughness, clarity and dramatic value. The first three areas rate 30 points each and the last three rate 10 points each.

Parents interested in colorblind snails, underwater ant cities and the flight of hockey pucks should not miss their children's discoveries on these subjects, according to science fair spokesmen.

Taught by William M. McCarty, a practicing attorney, the class is being held for the third year by popular demand, with emphasis on the ethics and philosophy of law, in addition to discussing the unnumerable small daily problems that plague, threaten, and frustrate each of us.

It is important that you know enough law to protect yourself and your family by means of homesteads, joint tenancies, and warranties from the everyday problems that surround and effect all of us.

You are urged to pre-register in order to get a place in this class by calling 273-3221.

Miramar Man Suspected Of Two Robberies

A Miramar-based sailor was held in city jail this week as a robbery suspect in connection with the robbery of seven stores in the past two months.

James M. McGinnis, 20, was stopped at 11 p.m. Wednesday for speeding following the robbery of $209 from the Yacht Club Liquor Store at 1208 Rosecrans St. Prior to that Manou Ehya, clerk in Chip's Liquor Store at 1936 Garnet Ave., was threatened in an attempted robbery. Ehya refused to hand over the money and the gunman fled.

The arresting patrolman recognized McGinnis from a police broadcast as he was issuing the speeding citation. A gun and $209 were found in the suspect's car.

ROY ARCHER

Welfare Cycle Can Be Cut, Says Archer

Palomar College political science teacher Roy "Pat" Archer has announced he will make another try at the 80th assembly district seat.

Archer, 33, was the Democratic nominee for the seat in 1966. In announcing his candidacy, Archer said he plans to curtail the cost of Welfare in California. Archer said if he is elected he will introduce legislation that will require everyone receiving welfare or aid to dependent children to go to school five hours per day, five days per week.

"The aim is to break the poverty cycle and prevent generation after generation being born into welfare," said Archer.

Archer said he thinks farsighted people will support his plan. He said it can be financed through use of existing funds available through the Federal government.

Archer is married and has three children. He holds the rank of captain in the California National Guard.

Thirst Worse When You Lose The Purse

"Dig a Well Before You Are Thirsty." The League of Women Voters of Southern California aided by a grant from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation are offering such an opportunity to the business leaders in San Diego. The two organizations are undertaking a joint conference Feb. 21st in the Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles on "Community Involvement in Economic Development."

A unique feature of this conference is it affords the average citizen and business man an in-depth look into the problems and solutions relating to economic development. The program includes a dialogue showing the inter-relationships of all parts of the economy, such as taxes, land use, governing bodies, and industrial development. They will explore solutions to the control of blighted areas and analyze their own responsibilities and opportunities for citizen participation in various programs

The morning sessions will be devoted to presentation of five segments of the economy. Following a luncheon in the Coconut Grove, there will be an afternoon dialogue between members of the morning panel, citizens as represented by members of the League of Women Voters. Walter Hahn and Mrs. Sidney Goldhammer of San Diego will be participating in the program.

Registrations must be made by Feb. 16 by contacting the San Diego League of Women Voters, 2454 4th Avenue, 92101 or phone 232-8583.

As a non-partisan organization, the League of Women Voters is dedicated to the encouragement of citizen participation in government. "We feel that this conference will further this cause, and will focus attention on all facets of community goals," said Mrs. Kirk Abbey, President, League of Women Voters of San Diego.

"A day spent today may be the most rewarding investment business men can make for the future" said L. J. Zanville representing the Sears-Roebuck foundation.

Town Talk

By MARY FISHEL

"TONIGHT, TONIGHT . . . Won't Be Just Any Night" . . . The Night was Tuesday AND it certainly wasn't just any night. It truly was an outstanding night for Salk Institute For Biological Studies, Doctor Jonas Salk and the City of San Diego. The place was the Civic Theater and The Man responsible for making it a very unusual night indeed was Andy Williams. Andy came to town and with him he brought some of the most famous stars in the show business . . . Henry Mancini and his orchestra . . . Danny Thomas . . . Jack Benny . . . Bob Hope and Jerry Bishop Doris Dodge, a young blonde violinist, who played with you know who (JB) was excellent as well as the Osmond Brothers (they appear from time to time on television with Andy) and they introduced for the first time on stage their youngest brother, Jimmy . . . a living doll!

Since my hands were absolutely red from applauding (as well as those of my young companion), I couldn't help notice the two wealthy appearing dowagers to my right. They rarely smiled (in spite of Hope and Benny) and they NEVER applauded. Finally not being able to stand it any longer, my curiosity got the best of me near the end of the show. I leaned over and said "I beg your pardon, but is there something the matter with your hands?"

The lady nearest me looked rather startled and then said "Oh, you mean because we are not applauding . . . well I have been with a sick relative all day, who is almost dead and that is about the way I feel too" . . . well I didn't say it, but I should have . . . she should have given her tickets to someone who would not have been so close to dead, because you would have to be not to applaud an orchestra leader and composer such as Henry Mancini . . . a star as YOUNG as Jack Benny (a mere 73) the inimitable Bob Hope not to mention Andy Williams.

Andy's voice on stage was even more beautiful than on television or records. And when he concluded the star-studded production with "Somewhere" from West Side Story . . . even the dowagers found their hands!

* * *

TALKING ABOUT . . . the "Andy Tonight Show" before the show at the Civic Theater Mrs Harry E. Farb, president of the Women's Association for Salk Institute and Mrs. Eric Bass (she was dinner chairman) had made many arrangements for the dinners being held at the Cuyamaca Club and University Club.

Mrs. Paul Billingsley of La Jolla was in charge of decorations at the Cuyamaca Club, where she made it seem like Spring with pussy willows, yellow acacia and blue Iris.

Assisting here were Mmes. Mary Francis Nelson, Maurice Wilson, Worley Stewart, Narval Rader, Claire Thoran Crosier, Kent Porter and Marilyn Beard.

Huge burnt orange Mexican paper poppies were used by Mrs. Donald J. Brewer, also of La Jolla, to decorate the University Club. She was assisted by Mmes. William Loy, James Bowers, Laird Landon and Duke Lovell.

MISSION BAY ASSOCIATES . . . are making plans for a big evening Friday . . . their annual meeting and cocktail party to be held in the new Mission Bay Room at the Bahia.

Mrs. John T. Ready is the chairman for social activities. She has announced the bar will be open for members and their wives at 6:30 p.m. with the short business meeting scheduled at 8 p.m. Admission is by 1968 membership card and the Associates' officers hope to welcome a full turnout of members for the first social event of the year.

PB Juniors to Model Fashion Creations

Pacific Beach Junior Woman's Club will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Pacific Beach Woman's Clubhouse, 5050 Soledad Rd., with Mrs. Thomas Commerford presiding.

Mrs. Louis Weinman, fine arts chairman, will present the program with members modeling home-sewn fashions. Members will choose the ensemble they wish to represent the club at the San Diego District Junior fashion show to be held March 9 at El Cajon Elks Lodge.

Modeling fashions will be Mmes. Paul Johnson, William Roubinek, Glen Holdgrafer, Archie Smith and Shirley Temby. Commentary will be given by Mrs. Wallace Sneathen, San Diego District Juniors president. Mrs. Arthur Buckel will be accompanist.

For the fifth consecutive year the juniors have assisted the San Diego County Heart Association with the coin cake project. Recently members helped frost 1,400 cakes at the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company.

Club members also distributed 47 cakes throughout Pacific Beach. They will be collected March 5 and displayed in the window of the Sally Shops.

Sharp Hospital Research Center will be toured by members Feb. 23. Proceeds from a recent card party will be donated for a summer campership for a diabetic child.

Mrs. William Roubinek, mental health chairman, will deliver 12 gaily colored hand-sewn muu muus and 12 pairs of matching hand-knit slippers to the San Diego County Hospital Psychiatric Unit.

A canned goods shower will be held for Indians on the Pala Reservation. Items collected will be delivered by Mrs. Temby, Americanism chairman.

Mrs. Arthur Buckel, international affairs chairman, has announced that 34 pounds of clothing has reached Vietnam in connection with Operation Tinh Be-Bong. The clothing, shoes, games and sewing materials were the first to be received from the California juniors. They arrived on the Vietnamese New Year, a traditional time for gift giving.

Mrs. Peter Frechette has reported that $25 proceeds from a recent Holiday on Ice benefit will be sent to CARE, Inc. The club is collecting baby clothes for Casa de Todos Orphanage in Tijuana. Used costume jewelry is needed for the children's craft project in Vietnam under the Mustard Seed Program.

At a recent meeting the juniors were presented with a certificate of recognition from City Beautiful for their work in the Christmas Lights Project. Mrs. Raymond Smith, president, made the presentation.

Mrs. Roger Norman, junior representative from Pacific Beach Town Council, also recently presented a certificate of appreciation from the council for the club's efforts in the Christmas Lights Project.

Mrs. Charles Higgins, former member, has been voted to membership in the club again. Membership in the group is open to young women between the ages of 18 and 35. For information call Mrs. Frank Wellington, 488-8646.

Care Unit Classes Open at Hospital

A 21-week course for nurses assigned to future intensive and coronary care units began last week at University Hospital of San Diego County.

The 88-hour course which began in the hospital auditorium will continue until June 28 for the 42 registered and licensed vocational nurses attending. Members of the class were carefully screened for experience and emotional and physical stability.

They will form a nursing backbone for the seven intensive care units for medical and surgical specialties to be completed in the hospital by late summer.

Also planned at the hospital are two other intensive care units: one for infection cases and one for transplantation. Patients in the units will be given continuous medical and nursing care by highly trained personnel.

Miss Margaret Neill is superintendent of nurses and has emphasized that instruction will not only center on usage of new types of equipment but will also stress that patients in spite of their intensive needs are the same as those in other units. Basic patient needs must be recognized and met by the nursing staff.

The course will include work in laboratory and research settings and practice with EKG and monitoring equipment.

Committee members conducting the course include Mrs. Doris Ash, Miss Judith Bailey, Miss Mable Brown, Mrs. Leonara Hightman, Mrs. Joan Rahiser, Miss Mary Lou Goessling and Mrs. Jeanne Kuhn. Advisors are Miss Neill and Dr. Ralph B. Dilley.

Guest lecturers will be Drs. Ivan D. Baronofsky, M. D. Bushard, Dilley, Arnold L. Flick, Herman F. Froeb, Nicholas A. Halasz, B. M. Kim. Bruce F. Kimball, James Lasry, H. A. Levin, John J. Mazur, John C. McCall, Lee Monroe, Robert A. Nichols, Marshall J. Orloff, Brian Smith, John Pearson, Arnold S. Roland, Gordon Sproul and Cmdr. James N. Trone.

Mrs. Young Named Head

Mrs. Alice Lee Young will serve as chairman for the fifth Leadership Development Conference planned March 21 at the House of Hospitality in Balboa Park.

Theme for the conference is "Let's Communicate." Mrs. Young represents San Diego Soroptimist Club which co-sponsors the program with San Diego City College, San Diego County Chapter of American National Red Cross, San Diego District of California Federation of Women's Clubs and San Diego Kiwanis Club.

Assisting Mrs. Young will be Mmes. Harry Talbot Jr., vice chairman; Sayre Williams, secretary; E. P. Alcaraz, treasurer; Margaret Collins, program committee; and Miss Thelma Cuevas, publicity.

Registration for the conference will be held at 8:30 a.m. Mrs. Young is the current director of nursing service for San Diego County Chapter, American National Red Cross. She is a past president of San Diego County Nurses Association and Soroptimist Club.

At Felspar And Mission

Paint Firm Doubles Beach Store Size

The San Diego Glass and Paint Company store in Pacific Beach at the corner of Felspar Street and Mission Boulevard has been enlarged according to Edwin E. Connell, vice president and general manager of the company.

Connell says the enlarged facility will double the floor selling space of the store. The company has 14 stores in the San Diego area.

EDWIN E. CONNELL

"This expansion," explained Connell, "is due to the constantly increasing volume of business done at this location. We will now be able to service the Pacific Beach and La Jolla areas with larger and more complete stocks. We have accomplished this by taking over the store located on the corner of Mission Boulevard and Felspar Street."

The 40-year-old company, founded by its president, Irving Mitchell, had its beginning in a small store on Columbia Street in downtown San Diego, specializing in the sale of glass. Through the years, the organization expanded into a complete do-it-yourself operation, featuring paints, glass and glass installation, mirrors, hardware, plumbing and electrical supplies, lumber, patio doors, sliding windows, tub enclosures, and many other home maintenance and home improvement items.

"Our plans," stated Connell, "are for additional expansion in both the city and county. We see nothing but continuing growth for the entire area. It is heartening to observe the resurgence of activity in the building trades."

DOUBLE THE FLOOR SPACE—The San Diego Glass and Paint Company has twice the selling space that it had before. Edwin E. Connell, vice president and general manager of the company, said the expansion of the store was done so as to serve the increasing number of customers from La Jolla and Pacific Beach. The enlarged store is located at Felspar and Mission Boulevard.

PRECIOUS CATALYST

One of the most important applications for the precious metal platinum is as a catalyst in production of miracle drugs, high-octane gasoline and hundreds of chemicals. In such use, platinum promotes a chemical reaction and then emerges, unchanged, ready to be used again.

Dying penniless is not what worries some people — it's having to live that way.

Reader's Views

Dear Editor,

It is indeed inconceivable that the Post Office refuses to hire highly qualified male applicants because of their hairy appearance

This kind of discrimination is typical of the constant denial, by agents of a so called democratic administration, of a citizen's constitutional and human rights. Why doesn't this dictatorial rule apply to applicants of both sexes? Why not have crew cuts for all the P.O. employees regardless of sex, race or creed and, for uniformity's sake, why not provide those with a bald spot with a weatherproof toupee.

Dear old Abe and George, were in fact, as Mr. Janus pointed out, "Long Hairs", although I suspect that the latter President was somewhat shiny under his wig. Why then should Mr. Janus have his hair cropped close to his head, when the P.O. seems to stick to the Pony Express standards.

Meanwhile I remind Mr. Janus that each dog has his day and advise him to try the circus or better still UCSD, where he would have the opportunity to brush up on his English and, of course, find much sympathy, while I am quite happy in the North Shores Adult School.

Sincerely yours,
Inez Pico

Navy Divers Back From Baja Trip

Seven Naval Undersea Warfare Center scientists returned to San Diego this week from more than three weeks of research in the waters off Baja California and in the Gulf of California.

Using the deep submersibye, DEEPSTAR, six of the seven oceanographers completed 18 dives to depths of 4,000 feet while the seventh gathered thermal, magnatometer, and sub-surface sparker profiles aboard the USNS DAVIS (AGOR-5).

Dr. Eugene C. LaFond, supervisory oceanographer and head of the NUWC Marine Environment Division, made three dives into the submarine canyons at the tip of Baja California. Movie and still pictures were made of the water column and benthic life on the ocean bottom.

Temperature measurements of the water column within 32 feet of the ocean floor down to the bottom and into it were made to measure heat flow from the earth with a finding of two times as much as in other areas off the California coast. Another finding was that few organisms inhabited the water column while a very large shrimp population lived on the bottom at 3500 feet.

Dr. Eric Barham and I. E. Davies made six dives. The first three were to examine the Deep Scattering Layer (DSL) organisms in the California current and the equitorial current, noting the distinct change in populations. The other three dives were made in Banderas Bay off the mainland where a large minimum oxygen zone was first observed in December 1967.

Between the two series of dives Dr. Barham collected invertabrate organisms off the tip of Baja California in shallow waters working with the leading authority on tunicates, Dr. Donald P. Abbott, marine biologist from Stanford University.

Ten new species were identified and a particularly large bitunicate was discovered in La Paz bay burrowed into the sand. Three specimens of these were brought back for further study.

Dr. Robert Dill made nine dives to examine five canyons off Baja California. He found them much more rugged than anticipated and deeper. There were strong bottom currents which carry sediments out to from sand dunes on the ocean bottom.

Between the canyons at 600-700 foot depths terraces much like those found off Australia were found with cobble beaches and shallow water forms identified by Dr. Edwin Allison, of San Diego State College. The ping pong balls placed in these canyons in 1966 and 1967 were not found, probably because the bottom currents were so strong carrying them out to depths greater than 4,000 feet, the limits of DEEPSTAR.

The DEEPSTAR is leased by NUWC from Westinghouse Corporation. It is carried aboard its support ship SEARCH TIDE.

PROPELLER METAL

The majority of American-built workboats — tugs and ferries—operating in coastal and fresh waters are equipped with cast nickel stainless steel propellers.

Homemade Cars Must Still Meet State Standards

A motor vehicle by any other name—even "dune buggy"—is still a motor vehicle, and must be equipped to meet the standards set by the California Vehicle Code.

According to California Highway Patrol Captain Roland Gautsche of San Diego, this fact is often forgotten or not understood by hobbyists who build special motor vehicles, either from supplied kits or from parts of other vehicles, and then seek to register them.

"Dune buggy builders often find they are unable to register their special new vehicles because they have left off certain pieces of essential equipment required by law," said the Captain.

"They would be well advised to find out ahead of time what equipment is needed and what equipment is legally required, then get it on the vehicle while they are building it. Any Highway Patrol office has lists of required equipment and would be happy to assist them."

The Captain said equipment deficiencies commonly found on this type of vehcile include inadequate lighting and signal systems, unapproved glass in windshields, and absence of two windshield wipers and two mirrors.

"The builder also needs to think in terms of an adequate braking system, exhaust system including smog devices, if required, and safe tires and wheels for the buggy," the local Captain concluded.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By DOCTOR JOHN J. FLYNN
Doctor of Chiropractic

Q—I've heard it said that the success of the Doctor of Chiropractic is due to the failure of the Doctor of medicine to provide this service. Is this true?

A—It never seems to occur to some of the professionals in the healing arts that the headaches, stomach troubles, and the host of other body disorders that they prescribe hundreds of medicines and other more exotic drugs for, can actually result from nothing more serious than a displaced vertebra on the spinal column which any competent Doctor of Chiropractic can restore through a spinal adjustment.

FREE X-RAY

Q—I'd like to thank you for the free x-ray and examination my mother had at your office. I'm sure if there was something that Chiropractic could have done in her case, you would have tried. I have a friend with neuritis that I'd like to bring to your office, too. Does your free x-ray offer still apply in my case?

A—Of course.

SLEEPLESSNESS

Q—My teenage daughter is a bundle of nerves. She can't sleep. She complains of backaches in the morning and she's tense and irritable all day. Can you do anything about nerves?

A — Everybody is under some degree of tension or pressure these days and it is not necessarily harmful if we are physically fit and most importantly, getting enough sleep. Sleep is as important to the body as food and air. If your daughter continually has trouble getting to sleep, it could be a signal that something is wrong. In many cases, it has been found that physical complications like minor backache, stomach disorder, or other such pain has caused the muscles to remain taut —the body to remain tense all night destroying the ability to sleep well and sound. If this is true in your daughter's case. her morning backache may not be due to the mattress, but due to a spinal misalignment that is causing an impingement on the nerve network. This minor nerve blockage may be just enough to interfere with her normal rest and, of course, will eventually cause near exhaustion with all of the emotional problems that go along with it. Have an x-ray taken to make certain that nerve blockage is not the underlying problem. If it is, then you will be agreeably surprised how rapidly your teenager will respond to Chiropractic care.

Doctor Flynn welcomes your letters on health problems. Mail your questions to his office at 6943 Linda Vista Road or telephone for an appointment to discuss your problem directly with him. Free initial X-ray, examination and analysis. Telephone 278-2902.

Police, Opponents Meet Head-On At UC Seminar

"It was the nastiest crowd I've ever encountered in my 12 years on the force. You name it—they said it to us." —a Los Angeles Police Department lieutenant.

"It was the most terrible situation I have ever seen in my entire life . . . isolated cases of police brutality were numerous and unbelieveable!"—Larry Lawrence, president of the Hotel del Coronado.

These are two reactions to a situation that is becoming more common, more strained and more important—police confrontation of mass demonstrations. These two views were of the anti-war demonstration outside Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles last June.

The central topic, "Police and Protest," and underlying issues will be discussed at a one-day conference Feb. 17 at Vacation Village Hotel. The conference is sponsored by University of Californa Extension.

Lawrence, Roger Wilkins, director of the Justice Department's Community Relations Service; Ed Butler, San Diego's city attorney; Fred Okrand, American Civil Liberties Union lawyer from Los Angeles; Dan Andreotti, a veteran San Francisco policeman now with the Justice Department; Dr. Richard Popkin, chairman of the UCSD philosophy department and others will discuss how police are handling mass demonstrations.

Most have had first-hand experience. On a panel beginning at 11:15 a.m., for instance, five people are discussing "The Media and Demonstrations." All, including Lawrence, were present at the peace march and ensuing violence when President Johnson appeared at Century Plaza last June.

The panelists are Karl Fleming, Los Angeles bureau chief for Newsweek; John Dreyfuss, reporter for the Los Angeles Times; Lawrence, who was inside at the official presidential dinner, and Sylvia Shapiro and E. L. Mangelsen, San Diegans who took part in the march.

Lawrence's views on the peace march are contained in a letter he wrote to the ACLU after witnessing the demonstration and police tactics in controlling it.

John Wood, coordinator and moderator of the day-long conference, said participants will be asked to complete a questionnaire relative to their views about mass demonstrations, civil disobedience and police. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. followed by an NBC news film of the demonstration at the Pentagon last October, Wood said.

Registration is through University Extension, Matthews Campus, UCSD. Enrollment fee ($6) includes lunch at the hotel. For more information phone University Extension, 453-2000, ext. 2077.

To Your Health

Is it a virus? Is it a germ? Where does it come from? What does it do, and to whom? What can be done to it?

Quiz games have been high on the list of American folkways for umpty-odd years (some say even longer). Some quizzes are for fun, some are for prizes to the lucky or smart. But here's one where everybody wins — it brings you, if not instant health and happiness, at least an improved chance of gaining those sought-after commodities.

As a matter of fact, the subject of this particular quiz game is health—in an area where popular knowledge has always been long on fancy and short on fact.

It's a quiz about tuberculosis—the disease whose disappearance is calmly assumed as an accomplished fact by large numbers of people, but not by the almost fifty thousand who come down with it each year.

Do you know how TB is caught? Who is most apt to get it? How anybody can tell whether he has it? How it can be stopped? How many people in the U.S. are directly affected by it right now?

At last count, tuberculosis germs had installed themselves in the bodies of some 30 million Americans, most of whom fortunately will never become actually sick with the disease. On the other hand, any of them could. TB remains a menace; its prevention, detection, treatment, and efforts to eradicate it, still cost America a billion dollars each year.

Something worth finding out about. Ask your Christmas Seal organization for the new leaflet, "TB Quiz", published by the National Tuberculosis Association. It's free.

This column sponsored in the interest of better health by the Tuberculosis and Health Association of San Diego County—your Christmas Seal agency.

Ask The Principal

By Dr. Norman E. Wollitz

Why are we now faced with new demands for buildings when a bond issue was voted in June 1966?

In 1966 there were needs amounting to more than $50 million. The practical need to limit the request and the slowdown in enrollment growth required a reduction of the bond issue request to just over $22 million. Since that time some significant changes have taken place. These changes have caused some serious problems.

Population shifts and rapid growth in areas such as San Carlos, North Clairemont, and University City have required additional school construction which was not fully anticipated in 1966. In a few cases home construction anticipated in 1966 has not materialized. Of course in these cases plans for school construction has been delayed until the enrollment warrants it.

Due to the recent enrollment increases some permanent building construction has been delayed.

Portable classrooms have been provided. These portable rooms can especially be built in much less time than the permanent classrooms.

Full housing is the first objective and at times this means a compromise in the quality of building which is provided. In San Diego, holding down cost of construction has been a reality of life.

It appears that full housing can be achieved through June of 1969 which was the hope in 1966 when the latest bond issue was passed.

Some needed remodeling and new construction is being delayed and must be studied in order that priorities may be set and future financing considered.

Continual provision of new housing is a way of life in a growing community. The present situation is not a surprise crisis but requires continual public understanding.

By the year 2000, the electric utility industry will have installed seven to eight times the power producing capability it has today to meet the growing energy needs of the country.

Would you believe that some common plants are poisonous? Take for example the lily of the valley, iris, or buttercup. In the mouths of youngsters, who don't know any better, these common plants, according to the National Automobile Club, can be as deadly as arsenic.

Playoffs, Win Mark Spur Spirited Dons

By LARRY LITTLEFIELD

As spirited as they are unpredictable, University High's Dons are after their school's basketball win record. With it will probably come a bonus.

The mark is 15 wins in a season. To beat it, the Dons must win two of their remaining three ball games. If they do, chances are they'll be given a berth in the San Diego CIF playoffs.

Perhaps the toughest of those three games comes up Tuesday when University visits Clairemont for a 3 p.m. game that could go a long way in determining a playoff representative.

Madison, breezing to its ninth straight Western League win, cinched a tie for the championship Friday and will be idle Tuesday with a well deserved rest after six straight away games.

Point Loma, still in second place but reeling after a 49-45 loss to University Friday, hosts Kearny Tuesday and last place Mission Bay goes to La Jolla in an attempt to trade places with the Vikings. Both games are at 3 p.m.

University whipped Clairemont, 74-55, in the first round but the going may be tougher in the Chieftain teepee. The Chiefs have a contest left against Madison, as does Point Loma, so Tuesday's Chief-Don game is a big game for both clubs.

Clairemont springs into the game off a strong, 83-69 victory over Mission Bay Friday. Madison, meanwhile, whipped Kearny, 69-53, behind the 30-point performance of Ron Dahms who is now running way with the scoring championship.

University and Point Loma no doubt felt the pressure of Friday night's match and both were making December mistakes in a foul-filled affair. The Pointers committed 25 fouls and while University missed 15 free throws several players connected in the final minutes to pull out the victory.

Trailing through most of the second half, Uni tied it at 42-all on a free throw by Mike Grisham, went ahead on another free throw by Paul Wagner. Grisham's medium jumper gave the Dons a three-point lead, but the Pointers tied it at 45-all on a field goal and free throw by Morgan Miller.

Then Tim Gallagher sank two charity tosses, Grisham added another and Don McCormick put it out of sight with a final free throw.

Point Loma lost both its big men on fouls with Rick Gerding leaving with 3:27 left in the third period and Charlie Garten with 6:04 left in the fourth. The shooting of Morgan Miller, whose 23 points were game high, took up some slack, but reserves made too many mistakes.

Frank Peterson, Don Martin and Justin Lanne, with 23, 20 and 16 points respectively, led Clairemont's attack, offsetting 25 and 24-point performances by Mission Bay's Dennis Mayville and Steve Arter.

The Bucs, who don't seem to have last place material, beat La Jolla, 66-50, in the first round. Point Loma handled Kearny, 52-44, that same afternoon.

YIPES! WHAT A DROP!—University High's Mike Grisham looks as if he's amazed at the distance he traveled coming down with this first quarter rebound and Point Loma's Rick Gerding, right behind him, is none too happy about it. Grisham led the Dons in rebounding and scored several key free throws in the final minute as University topped the Pointers, 49-45. The Dons have another tough one Tuesday at Clairemont. Heisman Trophy Winner

Beban To Be Honored As State's Top Star

America's No. 1 college football player, UCLA quarterback Gary Beban will accept his 1967 California Athlete of the Year award at the 22nd annual Parade of Champions banquet Monday, Feb. 19, at the Grant Hotel, 7 p.m.

Co-sponsored by the Foundation and Greater San Diego Sports Assn., the banquet will also honor the 1967 Ameteur and Pro Stars of the Year for San Diego County—Aztec All American gridder Haven Moses, and Pro Golfer Billy Casper—and Hall of Fame electee Franklin (Bud) Held, former world's javeline record holder.

Winner last year of the California award was the Dodgers' now-retired Sandy Koufax. Associated Press conducts the statewide poll of sports writers and sportscasters annually.

Beban closed out a brilliant three-year UCLA career last year, setting 12 school records, passing and running for 1,586 yards and leading the Bruins to a 8-2-1 mark.

He virtually swept all collegiate honors last year, including selection as the Heisman Trophy, symbolic of college football's top player, and made every major All American team.

Beban is the top-ranking total offense player in Pacific Coast history, having gained 5,358 yards during his three years, 1965-66-67, at UCLA. And he is fifth on the all-time NCAA total offense list.

Last year he completed 87 passes in 156 attempts for 1,359 yards and eight touchdowns, and ran for a net of 227 yards and 11 scores.

His career scoring, an all-time UCLA mark, is 58 touchdowns, 35 by running, 23 by passing.

Probably his top performance in 1967 was in the Bruin's 21-20 loss to No. 1 ranked USC. Although painfully injured he hit 16 of 24 passes for 301 yards and two touchdowns.

Under Beban's inspired leadership UCLA won 23 games, lost five and tied two during his three-year quarterback stint.

Baseball Field In New Stadium To Be Previewed

A sneak preview of what the new, 50,000 seat San Diego Stadium will look like when laid out in baseball configuration will be held next Saturday and Sunday when the San Diego Padres hold an Open House for prospective season ticket holders and other baseball fans, Padre general manager Eddie Leishman announced.

Viewing times will be from 10 a.m. through 3 p.m. each day.

The Padres, reigning Pacific Coast League champions, will play their 1968 schedule in the new Mission Valley facility beginning April 16 with their season opener against the Indianapolis Indians.

"We have received many inquiries as to how the field will be laid out and what the seating will be for baseball," said Leishman. "The Open House is to acquaint everyone with the Stadium in its baseball configuration and to offer them the opportunity to select their own season seats for 1968. This is a unique opportunity for fans since this will establish a priority for major league baseball."

Baseball personalities expected to be on hand will include, besides Leishman, Padre manager Bob Skinner; 1967 Padre team members Bobby Klaus, Rich Barry, Dick Bertell and John Morris, Padre coach Whitey Wietelmann and San Diegans, now in the major leagues, Deron Johnson of the Atlanta Braves and Dave Morehead of the Boston Red Sox.

Season ticket applications will be available at the Stadium. Prices will remain the same as last season. They are: Field level box seats, full season, $120; field level box seats, half season, $60; Plaza reserved seats, full season, $92.50; Plaza reserved seats, half season, $47.50.

Surf Scene

By DOUG SMITH
City Surfing Coordinator

UPCOMING CONTESTS—San Diego State and UCLA have set a "B" contest (second 12 surfers of each club) at Ocean Beach on Feb. 17. On the following weekend, Feb. 24-25, las Olas will take on Swamis.

RECENT MEETS — Cal Western upset UCSD, 725-616, last weekend at "Sub" Sunset Cliffs giving the Westerners a championship of the Southern District. CW's Randy Stanger finished first with UCSD's Dave Lynett second and Tom Chamberlain and Jerry Surman, both of CW, third and fourth.

Winning the contest guarantees Cal Western of a berth in the finals representing the Southern District. The Central District will be represented by UCLA and the Northern District by Santa Barbara.

A mid-season Western Intercollegiate Surf Council meeting will take place Feb. 18 with UCLA hosting. The council plans to sponsor an "All-Star" meets in which each school picks its top three surfers. The contest will be judged on a similar basis as meets under WSA sanction.

SPECIAL EVENTS — Sunset Cliffs had excellent surf Monday and Tuesday with sets running six to eight feet. Joyce Hoffman stole the show Monday with quick turns and some outstanding rides. Joyce rode a very short, light Hobie board and was barely able to paddle it. Skip Frye showed up Tuesday with a Gordon and Smith board of similar dimensions and enjoyed some quick turns and fast rides at "New Break" in Ocean Beach.

SURFING CONDITIONS — Today's high will come at 7:12 a.m. with a high of 6.1. A low of -1.0 will come at 2:24 p.m.

PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK, Jim Richardson — Jim is a student at Hoover High School and is a member of the new White Sands Surf Club. He has been surfing two years and favors P.B. Point and South Mission surfing spots.

Jim recently achieved the number one position in his club's first intraclub contest with some great "goofy foot" rides on his Skip Frye model surfboard. Jim sees surfing as having progressed a lot and believes that we are inheriting the Australian style of surfing. He also feels that surfing is as hard as any other sport to become one of the top performers.

Menotti Named 'Hawk Grid Boss

As predicted by The Sentinel late last year, popular Jack Menotti will become the new head football coach at Madison High for the 1968 season.

Made official in a news release by the San Diego City Schools Thursday, Menotti leaves and assistant football coaching job at Kearny High to succeed George Hoagland.

"Jack has done an outstanding job for us and we hate to see him go," Kearny coach Birt Slater said. "But at the same time we're happy to see him get a head coaching job. He'll do a good job. He'll do a good job."

Menotti was graduated from Cal State Los Angeles in 1958 after playing as a lineman on offense and linebacker on defense for the Diablos. Earlier, he attended Loyola of Los Angeles and the College of Idaho. He expects to complete work on a master's degree this summer at Northern Arizona University.

Menotti went to high school in Santa Monica and returned to that city for his first coaching job an assistant at St. Monica High. He has been a Kearny since moving to San Diego in 1962. He lives in Kearny Mesa with his wife, Gail, and five children, age one to seven.

Hoagland, Madison's head football coach for six years since the school opened, resigned the post to accept assignment asstudent body advisor and director of student activities. The Warhawks were winless last season.

Holography Course Set At Navy Lab

Holography, the new technique of three-dimensional photography with a laser beam, will be the subject of a University of California Extension lecture series beginning Feb. 22 at the U.S. Navy Electronics Laboratory on Point Loma.

Geared to the non-specialist with training in engineering or science, "Holography and its Applications" is offered jointly by University Extension at Berkeley, Irvine, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Those scientists who have contributed most to its development will lecture on theoretical, practical and applied aspects of holography including its origin and history, sources and reconstruction in optical holography, color holography, holographic memories and acoustic holography. Its major impact on science in the past five years and future applications in such diverse fields as medicine, oceanography, visual arts and industry will be discussed.

Dr. John L. Barnes, professor of engineering at UCLA, is coordinator of the program. The series will also be offered in Los Angeles, Fullerton and San Francisco beginning the same week.

For further information concerning the San Diego program, write University of California Extension, P.O. Box 109, La Jolla, California 92037.

C'Western, USD Slate 'Big Game'

California Western University will meet the University of San Diego Thursday, Feb. 29, in a 7 p.m. preliminary game to a 9 o'clock National Basketball Association contest between the San Diego Rockets and the Cincinnati Royals at the International Sports Arena, according to Dr. James G. Crakes, Cal Western Director of Athletics.

The game was originally scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 21, in Cal Western's Golden Gymnasium. In another meeting, USD will host the Westerners Feb. 27 in the Toreros' gym.

Cal Western coach Bob Kloppenburg is much in favor of the transfer. "This should be a fine basketball game," says Kloppenburg. "It will give many more San Diego fans an opportunity to enjoy college basketball, and it's a bonus to the players to play in the Arena, which is a tremendous facility."

In a previous meeting between the two Universities this year (the championship round of the San Diego Holiday Tournament at Cal Western), coach Phil Woolpert's Toreros emerged victorious, 70-61.

On Lincoln's Birthday Monday at Old Mission San Luis Rey, near Oceanside, a rare "Abraham Lincoln" document from the Mission's archives will be on special display from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Related documents of his assassination will also be exhibited. For the convenience of visitors on the three day weekend holiday, the display will run on Saturday through Monday, Feb. 10 through 12.

The document voided the sale of Mission San Luis Rey by Governor Pio Pico in 1846. The Mexican governor had sold the Mission to his brother Jose, and to Jose A. Cot for $2,000 in cash and $437.50 in grain.

Following the Mexican War in 1846, the U.S. Congress established a Land Commission to settle private land claims in the new state of California. This Commission rendered a decision in 1865 that the titles of all of the Old Missions in California, with adjoining cemeteries and gardens, should belong to the Catholic Church.

In effect, the U.S. commissioners and judges applied the Mexican laws which placed Church property in a special category for its use in religious services.

Signed Patent

The formal process took several more years. On March 18, 1865, three weeks before his assassination, the patent recognizing the proprietary rights of the Church to Mission San Luis Rey came to the President's attention. Then, with the Civil War all but ended, the President signed the patent.

The patent restored 22.8 acres to the Church. Subsequently, the Old Mission obtained neighboring lands so that the present holdings amount to slightly more than 50 acres.

The signature is unusual. Most of Lincoln's presidential papers were signed by his secretary, but this document bears his own authenticated signature. Further, it is one of the few he signed with his full name, "Abraham Lincoln", rather than simply "A. Lincoln".

A little known fact in the Lincolnian literature is the intention President Lincoln expressed of visiting California, and perhaps settling permanently in the area. A certain Noah Brooks expressed Lincoln's thoughts in an article in an 1878 issue of Scribner's Magazine:

According to Brooks: . . . "he fixed his eyes on California as a place of permanent residence. He thought that the country offered better opportunity for his two boys . . . . than the older states. 'When we leave this place', he said one day, 'we shall have enough, I think, to take care of us old people. I guess mother will be satisfied with six months or so in Europe. After that I should really like to go to California and take a look at the Pacific Coast' ".

Act of Justice

Voiding the sale of the Old Mission church buildings was an act of justice, but could not reverse the temporary fate of San Luis Rey Mission. After its sale, the Mission served as temporary quarters for units of the U.S. Army. On occasion, during the 1846-1893 period, padres from Missions San Diego and San Juan Capistrano conducted religious services in the crumbling ruins. Helen Hunt Jackson, the famed author of Ramona writes of a solitary Indian caretaker living nearby in the 1880s. Only in 1893 did the Franciscan padres return permanently. With the help of interested citizens the padres have restored most of the old structures and set up a public museum of Old Mission objets d'art in which the Lincoln Document will have pride of place from February 10 to 12.

Nearly 750 pages of Old Mission documents, pertaining to San Luis Rey Mission, have been obtained from the Old Mission Santa Barbara Archives. Some of them will also be displayed specially, for the first time.

The Old Mission's ample picnic ground facilities are available to visitors without charge.

Guided Tours

Guided tours of the museum rooms, Old Mission Church, quaint gardens, and ancient cemetery are conducted by Franciscan-friar guides. Hours of tours are: Saturday—10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday—12 noon to 5 p.m.; Monday—10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission charge is 50c for adults; 25c for youngsters over 12 years old; $1.00 for families. Proceeds are used for further restoration and maintenance of the Old Mission.

San Luis Rey Mission is located on Highway 76, three miles east of Oceanside.

Men must show up well at the showdown to be winners.
